Wallace & Oldham Reign During 2021 Sportswarming

By Austin Colvin
Staff Reporter

Each year students and staff celebrate the week of Sportswarming by dressing up and holding special events to celebrate the occasion. Wednesday kicked it off with Pajama Day seeing the most participation of all the days. Thursday was "Dress like your favorite Holiday movie character". Friday was of course Black and Gold Day. The ugliest of sweaters were worn on Monday for "Ugly Sweater Day" and the final day was game day so there was a wild amount of random outfits. "Sportswarming fell on the last day before break so it was really busy due to combining game day and Sportswarming. Stuco elected to play volleyball again which is always a great time!" stated Mrs. Hoover Stuco sponsor.

The basketball teams faced North Harrison for Sportswarming. The girls were up first and won 56-21. With a good victory for the girls, the boys were ready to play. They came out and put it on to North Harrison with a 78-31 win, but that wasn't the most exciting event that night. The announcement of the Crown bearers Lawson Hague and Adeline Newcomer.

2021 Sportswarming King and Queen Ethan Oldham and Bailey Wallace.

Sportswarming king and queen was the best. Representing the freshmen class was Marli Hilton and Colby McQueen. Sophomores were Amelia Wallace and Tucker Schieber. Juniors were represented by Katie Angle and Kaedon Showers. And lastly the senior candidates were Sadie Runde, Astasia Brown, Bailey Wallace, Landon Marticke, Ethan Oldham, and Tyler Schwebach. In a nail biting competition, Bailey Wallace and Ethan Oldham reigned. Ethan Oldham's thoughts on Sportswarming were "Well, I couldn't walk very well, and I missed Austin and Tyler's alley-oop. Other than that, it was a lot of fun and everyone had a great time."

After the games were over, students and outside friends could stay for the volleyball tournament. Everyone had a great time and it was just an all around awesome experience for everyone.

Stanberry FFA Greenhands Attend Conference

By Kiley Mattson
FFA Reporter

The newest members of the Stanberry FFA chapter attended the 2022 Greenhand Motivational Conference that was held January 7th at Missouri Western State University. These conferences were presented by the State FFA Officers and sponsored by MFA Incorporated. Over 4500 first year FFA members from more than 350 Missouri High Schools had the opportunity to learn about being positive role models, learning to get involved in their communities, making sound choices, becoming active team members and making a positive difference in their lives, school and community.

Through interactive workshops and skits, the State FFA Officers encouraged first-year FFA members to explore and reach outside their comfort zone for the opportunities provided through FFA membership. They helped the new agriculture students set goals for their education, careers, and FFA experiences.

Ben Messner, a Senior Stanberry FFA member, was also a part of the Greenhand Motivational Conference. Ben is currently serving as the Area 1 Parliamentarian. He performed opening ceremonies, and helped lead conferences throughout the morning.

After attending the Greenhand Motivational Conference, Stanberry FFA members visited the Remington Nature Center in St. Joseph. At the nature center, students participated in a scavenger hunt with several interactive components that allowed them to use their senses to learn about and appreciate the natural environment, as well as the events that impact nature in and around Northwest Missouri.

Greenhand Marli Hilton, said her favorite part of the Greenhand Motivational Conference was "The last speaker because he talked about doing things when other people say it's impossible." Like breaking boundaries." Her top FFA goal is to go to the National FFA Convention. When asked about her favorite part of the conference, Brea Jensen said "talking about the future opportunities that FFA can offer was very interesting and has inspired me to be more active." Brea's top FFA goal is to receive a State Degree.

Freshman Establishing High School Life

By Jackson Williams
Staff Reporter

The class of 2025 has completed half of their first year of highschool. They have been working hard with their classes and sports during this first year. Two freshmen were asked what they think about highschool and Payton Williams said “It’s awesome and it feels way different than junior high, plus there’s more responsibility.” Devin Strawhacker replied “It’s kinda like junior high with how the classes are but there’s a bit more responsibility, so it gets us ready for the future.”

The freshman class are all enrolled in their core classes and are enjoying a variety of sports. Each is headed down a path to success and can’t wait to see what the rest of highschool has in store for them.

Third Grade Hits Another Milestone

By Austin Hill
Staff Reporter

Third grade is the last grade of primary school, with next year progressing students into the intermediate wing. This year is a huge milestone for third graders and this group is running strong. There are two classes Mrs. Shelbi Luke's and Mrs. Veronica Giedd's.

Mrs. Giedd and her class had a slime party to "celebrate the class's reading growth, and [they] tied it into [their] science unit 'States of Matter'."

She says her class agrees "the slime party was the best." When asked how the year is going, Mrs. Giedd responded, "we have a class of really amazing kids, and we have had a great year so far!"

Third grade is full of academic achievements as well. In third grade students advance their reading, learn multiplication and basic division facts. With all these achievements and milestones coming, this year should be a very successful, defining year.

Owen and Kasyn show off their slime creations.

Michael and Sean Gomez work to get their slime activated.

Video Game Review: Phasmophobia

By Jackson Williams
Staff Reporter

If you want a slow paced horror game that makes your heart race and involves your investigating haunted houses by yourself or with some friends, then Phasmophobia is a perfect game for you.

You start off in your safe house that is full of fun secrets to discover but also lets you start or join a match. Once you start a match, you are in a van with the basic gear that can help you identify the type of ghost that's possessing the different maps. It also shows you the basic layout of the house, a sanity meter, a computer that shows the cameras you've placed, and the ghosts activity meter. As you continue to play the game and level up, you can unlock new gear and larger maps to play on. As you walk through the house the game gives off an unsettling feeling as you hear the faintest noises across the house so you're always alert.

So, if you want a game that will make you always alert and still scare you then Phasmophobia will be a perfect game for you.

Song Review

By Austin Hill
Staff Reporter

Over Christmas break I watched the musical Hamilton for the first time. It has since become one of my favorite musicals by far. One of my favorite songs from the musical was Jonathan Groff's "You'll Be Back".

The song "You'll Be Back" is basically King George III's (the King of England at the time of the American Revolution) 'break-up' song. Groff plays King George who says "When push comes to shove, I will kill your friends and family to remind you of my love." The song is about King George's idea that the colonists will come crawling back after he squashes their revolution. My favorite thing about the song is the sarcasm, the nonsensical "da da da da da" part, and the part where King George threatens to kill the colonists. I recommend this song and the musical to anyone who enjoys sarcasm and history.

Encanto, while I admit, is a bit unorthodox compared to what most Disney fans would expect, is just a mere scratch on the paint to this brand new film. The setting of this film is Colombia and starts out by explaining the backstory of the characters and the fabric in which the plot was based on. Long ago, a small village was cast out of their homes by a group of armed forces for their land, money, etc. During this time, one of the local villagers, Pablo, bought time for the rest of his family and friends to escape the armed forces pursuit by throwing himself in front of them, which led to his death. His wife and 3 kids were left safe from their reach, but devastated by their father's/husband's death. In their darkest days, something magical happened. The candle that led their way from the armed forces sparked into a mystical miracle creating a geographical shelter for the family and gifted them an enchanted house called Caseta.

From then on, the descendants of the wife and her kids were blessed with magical gifts that gave each descendant a special power and became known as the Madrigals. Around 50 years later in the present day, we meet our main character, Marabel. When the movie first starts we are taken to the newest Madrigal child, Antonio's, gift ceremony where the miracle will grant him his gift. This is where the first song takes place, "Welcome to Family Madrigal", which explains the current family members. However, at the end of the song we learn Marabel never received a gift. At first she is excited for Antonio and his gift ceremony and goes so far as to help him overcome his nervousness and accept his gift, the power to understand animals. But, when the party concludes, Marabel feels like she is the only non-special one in her amazing family. Her sorrow is then turned to fear as she witnesses her house almost crack to pieces due to a disturbance in the magic. The rest of the story follows her search for the truth behind the whole mystery, the disturbance to the home and who and what is linked to it.

I personally liked this film for multiple reasons. One, I was impressed by how the story writers used the magical doors of cassetta to give the illusion she is in a completely different area or setting when in reality she is still in her house. Secondly, I enjoyed the song, "We Don't Talk About Bruno," because it gives off a distrustful appearance to the character Bruno, therefore, putting fear in Marabel when she finds out he is the one she must find. Finally, I love how the writers squeezed in enough screen time for each member of the family to not only include them in the plot, but make each one memorable in his or her way.

An all around great film in general, I highly recommend watching this film. Credit to Disney Plus for allowing me to watch this film free of charge.

Wrestlers Facing Challenges

By Austin Colvin
Staff Reporter

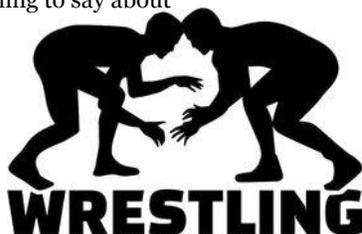

With the month of January coming to a close, wrestling is in the heart of the season. It is a non-stop grind for everyone with wrestling meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and then the weekends are being taken up by tournaments. Kolton Dias had to say "Wrestling is one of my favorite sports. Practices are getting tougher since we're getting closer to postseason. The competition this year in my weight is very difficult. Hopefully, I can come through in time for the district tournaments."

As the year goes on, the better the competition gets. The Mid-Buchanan tournament was the first big tournament. With Ethan Oldham being injured, we only had four wrestlers at the tournament. Kolton Dias, Aiden Law, and Austin Colvin all wrestled for varsity and Decker Heyde wrestled JV. Kolton Dias and Decker Heyde both lost their first two matches, however Aiden Law placed 6th and Austin Colvin placed 2nd. Coach Dias had something to say about the year, "The team has shown vast improvement over the past few months. As we are in the heart of our season, staying healthy is one of our most important tasks. Injuries, sickness, weight stability are just a few of them. I expect great things as we progress into the postseason."

The biggest obstacle of the year is Covid. It has been going around and multiple people on the wrestling team have been quarantined or not able to wrestle due to close contact. However, when the wrestlers come back, they are ready and determined to be the best. They have the mindset of a state champion and are willing to go the extra mile to be the best.

The last obstacle is injuries. From breaking bones to calves, the wrestlers are doing the best they can to stay healthy. With it being this late into the season injuries are nothing to joke about. Monty, our personal trainer, has been putting in overtime to keep the athletes healthy for the rest of the year.

Weather Cuts Stanberry Tournament Short

By Landon Marticke
Staff Reporter

The Stanberry Tournament was a great success for both Bulldog teams. On the first night of the tournament the Lady Bulldogs defeated the Worth County Tigers by a score of 46-12 to move on to the semifinal game. The next evening the boys team followed suit with the girls beating the King City Wildkats with a score of 74-41.

On Thursday, the girls semifinal game against North Andrew was a nail biter with Stanberry pulling off a close win posting a score of 36-31 to claim a spot in the championship game against Platte Valley. The boys then got it done against Worth County with a score of 51-43 to move on to the championship game to face off against Mound City.

Unfortunately, the games were later canceled due to weather conditions, but both teams had a very successful week and would have walked away in either first or second place. Both teams square up at the King City tournament this week.

Stanberry Lady Bulldogs get ready to take on an opponent during the Stanberry Tournament.

Colby McQuinn heads out to shake hands with the refs and other team before the start of play during the tournament.
