Sportswarming 2025

By Marli Hilton
Staff Reporter

This year's Sportswarming week was shorter than usual, due to the snowy weather earlier in the week. The theme was "On the Road to Victory". Students came back to school on Wednesday, the dress up day was pajamas, which was the perfect way to come back after a long break. Thursday was red white and blue day, and Friday was traditional black and gold day.

During the week, 7-12 classes got to work on their floats (shopping carts). The carts were provided by local grocery store, Stanberry Grocery and Spirits. Each class picked a destination and then students went around school or brought things from home to decorate the carts. Kaitlin Porterfield commented, "I enjoyed getting to be creative and build a small version of our homecoming float." The floats were paraded around during the pep assembly seventh hour on Friday. Class presidents pushed the carts, with candidates and court members following behind their classes float. Band members and cheerleaders performed and the boys and girls basketball teams were announced.

Both boys and girls basketball teams played on Friday against Worth County, the girls played at 6:00pm. They played a really good game and ended up winning 51-26. The boys played after with the coronation taking place at halftime. The freshmen attendants were Tasha Stoll and Drew Parman, sophomores Brookelynn Robinson and Aiden Graham, and juniors Courtney Merrigan and Evan Gregory. The senior candidates were Trista Lager and Decker Heyde, Lindsay Sherman and Colby McQueen, and Paige Woods and Jordyn Wright. The 2024-2025 Sportswarming king and queen were Trista Lager and Decker Heyde. The boys finished out the game and battled hard but unfortunately lost 32-54. Volleyball was scheduled for after the games but was cancelled due to weather.

The following day Student Council members arrived at school to decorate and get ready for the dance that was to be held later that night. Students and a few staff members danced all night, and ate snacks brought by StuCo members. Students learned to line dance, took pictures, and chatted all night long. When asked how he liked the dance, Colby McQueen stated, "I loved the dance, it was fun. I liked dancing with all the guys." This week was full of fun activities and the students, staff, and community made many great memories.

New Year's Resolutions

By Hannah Stevens
Staff Reporter

For many people the new year is a time to set goals and try to accomplish these goals. Some people have big goals and some have smaller goals. What do you want to accomplish in 2025?

Many are wanting to live a healthier lifestyle and eat healthier. Elementary principal Mrs. Graham would like to be mindful of her time and balance her time between work and her personal life. The FACS teacher, Mrs. Meyer, also has a similar goal of wanting to have more balance between her work life and personal life.

On the student side of things, senior Maranda

Evans would like to buckle down and save money. She would also like to practice cooking since she'll be moving out on her own later this year. Junior Olivia Blessing plans to focus on the second half of the school year so she can enjoy the warm weather of summer and no school. Junior Miley Davis plans to focus on spending more time with friends. Senior Wyatt Taylor set a goal of focusing this last semester of high school on graduating with good grades.

Happy New Year!
Have a fabulous year.
Keep working towards your goals.

JANUARY 2025

December Character Trait: Empathy

By Kaitlin Porterfield
Staff Reporter

December's character trait was empathy. Throughout the month the high school and junior high students practiced showing empathy in their daily lives. They also had lessons on empathy in the morning on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Near the end of December each grade level voted on people in their class they thought best represented the trait empathy.

This month the seniors selected were Marli Hilton and Treston Williams. Marli consistently demonstrates a high level of empathy, always showing a genuine concern for the feelings and well-being of others. Whether supporting classmates through challenges or offering a listening ear, Marli is compassionate and empathetic in her daily attitude to those around her.

Her ability to understand and respect diverse perspectives makes her a valued student of Stanberry R-II. Treston is very empathetic to people when they go through things. He is a great listener and provides good help to those in need.

The junior empathy winner was Kenzi Santa Cruz. She may be quiet, however if someone is in need or not feeling well she is one of the first to ask how they are doing or if there is something she can do to help. Kenzi always seems to look for ways to make other people's days better.

The sophomores had three character trait winners this month. They were Avery Calhoun, Brooke Robinson, and Jax Heyde. Avery shows empathy through talking to her peers and always making sure to check on them if they seem stressed or upset. She makes sure to communicate that she is always there to help you if you need it, or just to be a listening ear. Brooke always steps up and helps others. She always puts others before herself. When someone is down, whether it is a student or teacher, she always asks them how she can help them. You will never see Brooke without a smile on her face. She is a positive person. Everyone should strive to be more like Brooke. Jax always does his best to understand others' feelings and really puts himself in their shoes. A recent example of this was his empathy towards another student who had been really sick and missed quite a bit of school. Jax understood what that was like and recognized how hard it is to catch up on everything that was missed. Instead of just brushing off his peers' feelings, he strives to be empathetic.

The empathy winner in the freshmen class was Audrey Cook. She is very understanding of other people's situations and willing to help them out when in need.

The eighth grade award winners were Baylee Albright, Jaxon Baker, and Kaitlyn Van Draska. Baylee is an exceptional 8th grader who exemplifies empathy and kindness every day. She is always attentive to her peers, ensuring they are okay and going out of her way to make others feel supported and happy. Her thoughtfulness and genuine care for those around her create a positive and welcoming environment in the classroom. Baylee's actions are a true testament to her compassionate nature and dedication to uplifting others. Jaxon is an empathetic 8th grader who consistently shows understanding and compassion toward others. He is quick to notice when someone is in need and offers support with kindness and sincerity. His ability to connect with his peers and demonstrate genuine care makes him a valued member of the classroom community. He actively listens and responds thoughtfully, making sure that his peers feel seen and heard. He checks in on others and offers support when they need it most, and he makes an effort to involve everyone in activities. Jaxon is a friend to everyone, and his genuine care for people is inspiring. Kaitlyn consistently demonstrates kindness and understanding toward her classmates, making everyone feel included and valued. Not only does she ask questions, but she listens and ensures that the other student is feeling better before leaving them. Her ability to listen and offer support in both challenging and everyday situations shows her deep care for others. Kaitlyn's actions inspire those around her to be more thoughtful and compassionate, creating a positive and welcoming environment in our class.

To round things out, the seventh grade class chose Kayla McQuinn, Emilee Groven, and Noah Beggs to represent the character trait empathy. Kayla is always there for anyone. She will pick you up when you feel sad. She helps you talk through your feelings and asks if she can do anything to help you. Emilee always checks on anyone that is sad or frustrated. She always makes you feel included. She always tries to understand the feelings of others and connect with others and tries to understand how they are feeling.

Mrs. Maronde, who organized the assembly, stated, "My favorite part about helping with the character trait assemblies is getting to collaborate with the students and come up with new ideas that they think would be engaging and beneficial to present on the current and next character trait to the student body."

The junior high and high school students picked wonderful nominees for December's character trait. We are so grateful to have these students in our school to make it better. We are so proud of all of them! January's character trait is perseverance, and we can't wait to see who gets nominated for it!

Third Grade Eager to Learn

By Maranda Evans
Staff Reporter

This year the third grade classes are taught by Ms. Vanessa Pappert and Mrs. Shelbi Luke, and these two amazing teachers have done a fantastic job at teaching the third grade classes. So far the third graders have learned multiplication and division, point of view, multiple meaning words, theme, main idea organism survival, environment change, and traits and adaptations. Ms. Pappert commented, "This group of children is very engaged in learning and loves being at school learning every subject! I am so excited to continue to see them excel in learning and keep pushing to think outside of the box!" As you can see these students have been working very hard and have learned so many new skills.

Coming up for the rest of the year, the students are going to learn fractions, time, area and perimeter, geometry, text structures, Missouri history and geography, and forces and motion. Mrs. Luke stated, "It's been a great year so far! I have enjoyed getting to know each of the third graders and their various personalities. They come each day ready to learn and embrace new challenges."

This group of students have already accomplished so many great things this school year with much more ahead of them before this school year comes to an end. We are so very proud of these students, and we are thankful for their teachers there to help them every step of the way! Good luck to this group of students for the rest of their school year.

Freshmen Settle into High School

By Lindsey Hailey
Staff Reporter

This month we are featuring the freshman class. With the first semester done and getting back to school after a long Christmas break, the freshmen are just starting to get a feel what high school is actually like. On top of sports, they've had the opportunity to get involved in FFA, FBLA, and FCCLA. When asked why do you like being in organizations, Kynzee replied, "I like being involved in FFA because it pertains to my life at home."

The freshmen involved in FBLA had a field trip in November. They went to Herzog and after they finished up there they went ice skating. In February, those in FFA and FCCLA will be able to go on field trips similar as well. Along with their field trips, the freshmen in FFA also went to dairy cattle judging at NWMSU. As for fall sports, the freshmen had the opportunity to be on the football team, softball team, golf team, and cheer squad. The freshmen are getting to experience either the basketball team or the wrestling team during the winter months. When asked what was your goal for this wrestling season and is your favorite part of the year, Keegan replied, "To get stronger for football and to be able to travel."

Good luck to the freshmen the rest of their school year!

Stanberry Tournament

By Lindsey Hailey
Staff Reporter

The Stanberry Invitational Basketball Tournament took place from January 13th to January 18th. The teams that were in the tournament for girls and boys were King City, North Nodaway, Northeast Nodaway, Worth County, Platte Valley, Albany, North Andrew, and Stanberry. The top seed for both boys and girls was King City and the second seed went to Platte Valley for boys and girls.

The Lady Bulldogs lost their first game against Platte Valley and then lost their second game against North Andrew in the tournament, so they were done quickly. When asked Coach Wendt what her thoughts were about the tournament and what she wished to do differently, she replied, "We had a tough first match up with Platte Valley. We knew we could compete with them if we came out hitting shots, playing good defense, and hitting free throws. We got into a little bit of foul trouble early and that hurt our momentum. They are very experienced and aggressive and just couldn't keep up a full four quarters. Then we played North Andrew in an elimination game. I was looking forward to this match up again after losing our conference game to them. We didn't quite execute the scouting report which allowed their best scorer to finish with 35 points including 7 three points. Considering those stats, we only lost by 9. It just wasn't our night of basketball while it was North Andrew's. After that loss, we had a few extra days recover and come back stronger. The following week has two big conference games that are great opportunities for us to turn around and pick up some wins after a few tough losses. Although the tournament didn't go as planned, we are learning from that experience. We are using each game as a learning experience for us to reach our end of the season goals in Districts."

The boys went on to play Worth County in the consolation game and, unfortunately, lost by 4 points. Coach Groomer commented on the game, "I felt like we came ready to play and we got a win against a very quality team and I am very pleased with the week."

The tournament concluded Saturday with the first place trophies going to Northeast Nodaway girls and the Platte Valley boys.

The Bulldogs look for success next week as they head to King City for their annual tournament. The girls take on Dekalb Monday night at 7:00 and the boys square up against Osborn Stewartsville at 8:15. Come out and support the teams!

Staff Reporter

January's STEM gadget is the LittleBits circuits. Stanberry R-II has acquired 8 sets of the circuits. LittleBits are circuits that can make noise, light up, and cause movement. The seventh grade STEM class used them to make their winter city blocks more fun. When seventh grader Kayla McQuinn was asked what her favorite part about using the littlebits was she responded, "I like whenever they made things spin." Stick with us for next month's STEM gadget.
